BOMB FOR MYLES O'REILLY

CONTAINED REAL POWDER

Captain Narrowly Escapes Serious Injury from Infernal Machine.

An infernal machine, containing explosives of s powerful nature, which might have killed a man, was received through the mail yesterday by Police Captain Myles O'Reilly, formerly of the Tenderloin, but now in charge of the Ralphave precinct, in Brooklyn. Had the sender of the machine, which was inclosed in an ordinary cigar box, not used a large nail to fasten down the cover the attempt on the captain's life might have been successful.

in inserting a knife under the lid of the cigar box excited his suspicions. A further examination of the box convinced him either that a oke was being played on him or that he was handling a box containing a deadly machine. The box reached the station house a few minutes after 8 o'clock yesterday morning, as Captain O'Reilly was reading an order to the detail of men going out on post. The package was mailed at Station S on Sunday night. After Captain O'Reilly had finished talking to his men he took the package to his private room. On the wrapper of heavy brown paper was writ-

MR MYLES O'REILLY.
Captain Police, 54th Precint,
Quinty street and Ralph avenue. City.

In the upper right hand corner was written "From I. S."

The captain thought some of his friends had sent him a box of Havanas, and he thought he would sample one of them. He couldn't, however, recall a friend whose initials are "I. S." On taking off the wrapper he found a piece of the top of the box, on which were the words "Compliments of D. Anchell." mystified the captain more, but he concluded that the name must have slipped from his memory. He took out his pocketknife and began to pry at the cover. The lid would not budge, and for the first time Captain O'Reilly ced the size of the nail holding the cover.

The next thing the captain discovered was that the box was pretty light for one containing fifty cigars. A further investigation showed that a small plug had been inserted in one corner of the box cover. Captain O'Reilly called in Detective John Law, who had seen infernal machines, and asked him what he thought of the box. One glance convinced Law that it was an infernal machine.

MACHINE FAIRLY POWERFUL

Law removed one end of the box with his knife, and on looking in saw that it was filled with cotton, through which a black powder had been sifted. He carefully removed the cotton and poured out the loose powder, and then proceeded to examine the mechanism of the machine. A piece of cardboard an inch wide was pasted diagonally on the bottom of the box. On this strip of cardboard had been stuck seven cylinders of sandpaper, with the rough surfaces of the sandpaper on the inner side of the cylinders. Seven parlor matches, heads down, were inclosed in the cylinders, with their other ends fastened to the lid of the cigar box. The arrangement of the cylinders and matches was such that had the top been opened the sandpaper would have ignited the matches, which would have set fire to the cotton and exploded The contents of the box were taken to the yard outside of the station house and rolled up in some newspapers, which were set on fire, The captain and the policemen retired to a safe distance to watch the powder go off. It was fortunate they did so, for the force of the explo-sion was great enough to blow off the hats of all in the yard, and a chair that stood near the urning paper was hurled agaist the station ouse wall and smushed to pleces.

Captain O'Rellly sent the box which had con-tained the explosive to Police Headquarters, and Central Office detectives were put on the and Central Office detectives were put on the case. Captain O'Reilly is at a loss to know who dislike him so much that they would like to take his life. He is convinced that the machine was too carefully constructed to be a joke.

DETECTIVES ON THE CASE.

At the Central Office the machine was care fully examined to see if it resembled those re ceived by Jacob Schiff and at the office of Guggenheim Sons last Friday. There was little resemblance, as the boxes of the two other infernal machines had sliding covers. In those were two matches arranged so that they would he set off by the top of the box as it was being opened. While in the Tenderloin, where Captain O'Reilly distinguished himself by being the only precinct commander who ever "raided" Daly's Theatre, an "infernal machine" was found on the window of his office one day. After being soaked in a pail of water for some time the deadly bomb resolved itself into the empty wrapper of a dynamite cracker, which had been provided with a most deadly looking DEATH FOLLOWS FOOLING IN BOAT. Chicago, Aug. 21.- A dispatch to The Tribune from Generoo, Ill., says Herr in Melin, of Moline, and Ben Brooks, of Osco, caniping at Rock River, were drowned yesterday. In company with two young women they went out rowing. Thinking the water shallow, they threw the young girls over-board. Scrambling back, the girls threatened to throw the young men out. The young men jumped into water fifteen feet deep and were drowned.

Water Invades Wells at Humble, Tex., Causing Great Damage.

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 21.-What promised to be one of the greatest oil fields in the United States, at Humble, Tex., is threatened by water which is mixing with the oil underground,

The production has dropped from 80,000 bar rels a day to about 50,000 barrels, and is still on the decline. To add to the distressing condition the oil began turning red last night, which means a mixture of water, which, if it continues to increase, will destroy the entire field. This field, with the many new wells being sunk, gave promise of reaching 150,000 barrels a day in a few weeks.

Former Statistician on Value of Cotton Reports.

London, Aug. 21.-John Hyde, former statistician of the United States Department of Agriculture, who at present is in this city, has been under the care of a physician for several weeks, and is still prohibited from attending to business. He said

If have just seen for the first time the revised cotton acreage report, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture on July 26. The cropestimating board reduces the official estimate of June 2 by more than 1,100,000 acres, and even goes so far as to say that I made the estimate lower than the reports received from official reporters employed by the bureau warranted. To this statement I give unqualified denial and assert that the most trustworthy of the various sets of figures on which the report of June 2 was based afforded the most ample warrant for my estimate. It is only by an entire disregard of the reports of county and township correspondents that the department's acreage reports can be prevented from ones more becoming the laughing stock of the world. When concerned only with the condition of the growing crop, except under special circumstances, the reports of county and township correspondents are not without value; when, however, these correspondents report either upon the acreage or upon the size of the crop in bales, their reports are absolutely worthless. For instance, the reports are absolutely worthless, and by county correspondents at less than 12,000,000 bales, and by county correspondents at less than 12,000,000 bales, and by county correspondents at less than 11,000,000 bales. Fallure on the part of the board to recognize the widely varying degrees of reliability which characterize the reports of its different classes of correspondents will inevitably destroy the value of treports for general statistical purposes.

Mr. Hyde said that he gave this interview agains the earnest protest of his physician, and had forwarded an affidavit to Washington covering his connection with the cotton report. He said that he expected to return to America about October I.

MAY REPLY TO HYDE.

Assistant Secretary Hays Likely to Issue Statement on Revised Cotton Estimate.

Washington, Aug. 21.-Both Secretary Wilson and Assistant Secretary Hays, of the Department of Agriculture, read with interest to-night the statenent made by Mr. Hyde regarding the controversy over the crop estimating figures of June 2. Mr mating board of the department, probably will issue statement showing the methods employed in ar riving at the estimate which took the place of that made on June 2. He insists that the reduction was waranted by the reports from the correspondents of the Department of Agriculture, and was determined by following the eractices theretofore in vegue in the statistician's office.

Mr. Hyde's affidavit covering his connection with the cotton report has not yet reached Washington.

EXCHANGE EXPULSION SUSTAINED.

Supreme Court Upholds Consolidated's Action Against Harry L. Williamson.

In a decision handed down yesterday Supreme Court Justice Clarke has confirmed the actions of the officers of the Consolidated Exchange in expelling from membership in that body Harry L Williamson, who was the exchange member of the firm of John Zeeman & Co.

Williamson was expelled in 1901. The cause given for this action was "obvious fraud and false pretense" in connection with the purchase of stocks for customers. Williamson denied these charges, on trial by the Exchange Special Committee, said he had been taken by surprise

Williamson sued the Exchange for reinstatement and damages, and, in the opinion, Justice Clarke and damages, and, in the opinion, Justice Clarke says that on the evidence adduced before him he cannot place much faith in the plaintiff's defense, and therefore concludes that the expulsion was warranted. The justice also finds that the Exchange has ample power to expel a member who violates its rules.

Jay & Candler appeared for Mr. Williamson, and Sullivan & Cromwell for the Consolidated Exchange.

ASKS SHIPBUILDING COMPANY'S END.

James Smith, Jr.'s, Petition Denied by United States Court.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 21 (Special).-Declaring he lacked authority to do as requested, Judge William M. Lanning in the United States court here today refused the petition of Receiver James Smith, for the dissolution of the United States Shipbuilding Company. Judge Lanning says the coreration is the creature of the State, and cannot be dissolved by another authority.

It is expected that Mr. Smith will apply to the Court of Chancery for an order of dissolution. He desires to have the company's charter annulled because its franchise tax is about due and he is short of furds, having only $25,000 to meet all indebtelness.

OIL FIELD THREATENED. KIDNAPPERS IN "AUTO."

Mrs. Kenilworth Says Palmist's Friends Tried to Carry Her Off.

Helen Drinkwater Kenilworth, of No. 233 West 43d-st., who is known as "Mrs. Kenilworth." and who is pressing a charge of grand larceny against Walter W. Kenllworth, the Newport palmist, declared last night that she had a thrilling experience yesterday afternoon and barely escaped being kidnapped.

She went to Saratoga recently, she says, to get Annette, her maid, as a witness in the criminal suit against the astrologer, which comes up Thursday.

"I did not find Annette," said Mrs. Kenilworth and as I stepped out of the Grand Central Station on my return I saw two men whom I had often met through my husband, but whose names I do not know. They were in an automobile and they asked me to let them take me home. I did not think that strange, as Mr. Kenilworth had been telephoning me, threatening my life, and I thought these men had come to keep me out of harm. We rode to Broadway and stopped at several places, where we had drinks. My companions told me how repentant Kenilworth was, and asked me to drop the case. I told them that if Kenilworth would marry me I would consider his request, but not otherwise, Then they told me that Kenilworth had magic power and would put a curse on me.

"I left them and took a Broadway car to 24th-st. There something I had had in my drink began to affect me. I left the car and fainted as I reached the street. Two friends, William Sheridan, of 8th-ave, and 55th-st., and George Murray, of No. 209 East 50th-st., found me. They revived me with a glass of water, and as I came to the automobile containing my previous companions stopped at 34th-st. I had been followed.

"The men in the automobile said they would take me home, and again I joined them. They tried to force me to drink from a flask, but I would not. They told me that harm would come to me unless I would consent to go to White Plains or to Easton, Penn., where my larents live, until after the case against Kenilworth had been dismissed.

"At 42d-st. I tried to leave the machine, but they held me so roughly that they tore one of the sleeves from my waist. Finally I managed to leap from the auto while it was still going, and the men rode on. I am going to identify them to-morrow, and will lay the matter before the police." began to affect me. I left the car and fainted the police."

Walter W. Kenilworth, at his apartments at Walter W. Kenllworth, at his apartments at No. 13 West 35th-st, last evening indignantly denied knowing anything about the alleged attempt at kidnapping. Mr. Kenllworth had returned from Newport for a few days' stay in this city, but declined to discuss any bearing his return might have on the woman's action against him.

In June of this year the firm went into insolvency and Mr. Bloomingdale was appointed receiver. Since that time involuntary proceedings in bank-ruptcy have been begun in the federal court, and the schedules show liabilities of $36,000, with assets of $36,000. In his examination of the books of the concern the receiver found that between January, 1904, and June, 1905, the directors paid out of the capital of the corporation $251,345.

WISCONSIN CENTRAL RUMORS.

The market advance of the Wisconsin Central fissues has been accompanied by an interesting variety of rumors, none of which have received onfirmation. One report, which was denied yes terday by one of the men named in it, has it that Newman Erb. F. H. Prince and William L. Bull have been buying control of the property in the open market for James J. Hill. Another story is that the same men are buying the road in the interest of the Hollins syndicate, which would connect the Winconsin Central with the Pere Marquette by a car ferry acress Lake Michigan. Still another rumor is that the Wisconsin Central is to become part of the Gould system. A pool of Milwaukee and Chicago men has been operating in Wisconsin Central for a long time, and the prevailing opinion in Wall Street is that the market advance is due to the activities of this group. The common made a net gain vesterday of 1% points, closing at 82 The preferred advanced to 62% and closed at 61%, a net gain of 1 point.
